5TH ANNUAL LEWIS MUMFORD LECTURE
Co-Sponsored by
The Center for Social & Demographic Analysis

"Democratizing Data/Empowering Communities: The Boston Renaissance Resource Kit"

By

Barry Bluestone
Northeastern University

Thursday, April 29, 2004 at 3:00 pm
Campus Center, Assembly Hall
University at Albany

BARRY BLUESTONE is Russell B. and Andrèe B. Stearns Trustee Professor of Political Economy at Northeastern University. He is also Director of the Center for Urban and Regional Policy. In 1982, he published The Deindustrialization of America (co-authored with Bennett Harrison) which analyzed the restructuring of American industry and its economic and social impact on workers and communities. His latest book is The Boston Renaissance: Race, Space, and Economic Change in an American Metropolis, published by the Russell Sage Foundation. It recounts the industrial and demographic revolution in post-World War II Boston and its impact on racial and ethnic attitudes, residential segregation, and the labor market success of whites, blacks, and Latinos.

The Center has developed a multi-media Boston Renaissance Resource Kit to share information and make it easy for students, journalists, community organizations and others to tap into knowledge about the region.

(Reception Immediately Following)