Blood, Sex and Money: The Excitable Speech of Hindu Nationalists and Ethnoreligious Violence in India

Dr. Pinky Hota
Assistant Professor of Anthropology, Smith College

Friday, April 15th, 3:00 PM
Fine Arts 126

Dr. Hota earned a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. She is an anthropologist of South Asia, and her research interests lie in understanding interactions between various forms of “politics of recognition,” modes of citizenship and democratic politics in contemporary India.

Reception to follow

Department of Anthropology Speaker Series