Dr. Gwendolyn Saul
Curator of Ethnography, New York State Museum

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 3:30PM, FA 126
RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

Dr. Saul is an ethnographer and cultural anthropologist interested in creative and innovative ways to implement critical Indigenous theory into museum spaces and practices. Her research and scholarship focuses on oral histories, museum studies, contemporary Indigenous art, and critical Indigenous theory. She is developing new projects that build upon collaborations with Indigenous artists and community members to address ideas and topics of central importance to Indigenous community members in New York. She also serves as an elected board member of the Council for Museum Anthropology.