A Conversation with Goldie Blumenstyk

AMERICAN HIGHER EDUCATION IN CRISIS?
WHAT EVERYONE NEEDS TO KNOW

Tuesday, March 24, 2015
6:00 p.m.
University Hall 110

Goldie Blumenstyk, one of the nation’s most respected higher education journalists, is a long-time reporter for The Chronicle of Higher Education. Join the conversation as she and Dr. Kevin Kinser, Chair of the Educational Administration and Policy Studies Department, explore themes of her book, American Higher Education in Crisis? What Everyone Needs to Know (Oxford University Press, 2015).

Disinvestment by states has driven up tuition prices, and students and their families worry increasingly about debt. Some are questioning the work of a college education, even as study after study shows how important it is to economic and social mobility. The book is a timely and concise analysis that guides readers through current forces and trends in higher education and speculates about some of the ways American colleges and universities will be reshaped in the years to come.

Copies of the book will be on sale at this event. A book signing will follow the discussion.
Refreshments Provided by the System Office of the State University of New York.

UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY
State University of New York