“The Program teaches students about the precious natural space left in the world. Students are trained to understand why our environment must be preserved and how they must be actively involved in public policy to make positive changes for our future.”