

Presidential Doctoral Fellowship for Research Training in Health Disparities

Pursue any doctoral program at the University at Albany and receive trans-disciplinary training in health disparities.

For more information
contact:
CEMHD@albany.edu

TRAINING/MENTORSHIP

- Completion of Health Disparities Graduate Certificate Program.
- Training through four experiential learning placements in research labs, community groups, NGO's, state/local health departments.
- Dedicated writing & statistical analysis support.
- Engagement with CEMHD-supported community task forces.
- Participation in national conference on health disparities hosted by the University President.

FINANCIAL BENEFITS

- Full tuition and mandatory fees.
- Stipend.
- Funding for travel to professional meetings to present health disparities research.
- Funding for membership in health disparities related professional association(s).

ELIGIBILITY

- Masters' degree preferred (but not required).
- Member of an under-represented group.
- United States citizen or permanent resident.
- Eligible to be employed in the United States.

HOW TO APPLY:

For optimal consideration apply before February 1st of the year you intend to begin.

- More information at <https://www.albany.edu/cemhd/fellowship.php>

"Of all the forms of inequality, injustice in health is the most shocking and the most inhuman..." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., March 25, 1966