Val Maasdorp is Clinical Director of Africa’s first Hospice, Island Hospice and Bereavement Service, in Zimbabwe, which celebrated its 31st anniversary this year. Almost 25 years with Island Hospice, Val has found ingenious and remarkable ways to navigate huge challenges during political turmoil, world inflation rates, collapsing health facilities and one of the world’s highest HIV rates.

A Social Worker, Val holds an ADEC CT qualification (Certified Thanatologist) and joined the International Work Group on Death, Dying and Bereavement in 2006.
