HISTORICAL RESOURCES PART I

The questions below are designed to help you become familiar with the materials available for Chinese historical research.

1. List the titles (not the authors) of two of the Chinese dynastic histories (give the Chinese characters):

   __________________________________________  __________________________________________

2. Based on the chart on Wilkinson, p.512, how many dynastic histories have monographs on Rivers and Canals?

   __________________________________________

3. Does the University at Albany Library own the Tzu-chih t’ung-chien 資治通鑑? If so, what is its call number:

   __________________________________________

Choose either the Kodansha Encyclopedia of Japan or the Encyclopedia of Asian History for the next two questions.

4. Xerox the first page of an article that is in some way, shape, or form connected to your bibliography topic:

   a. From what volume did the article come (give the volume number and letter range)?

   __________________________________________

   b. What is the call number of the encyclopedia?

   __________________________________________

5. Provide the full citation of the work you chose below:

   __________________________________________
   __________________________________________
   __________________________________________