

EDUCATION FINANCE RESEARCH CONSORTIUM

Symposium on the Teaching Workforce

November 8, 2000

The State Museum Theater, Albany, New York

Program

- 8:30-8:45 Registration, coffee
- 8:45-9:15 Welcome and Introductions
- Jim Wyckoff, Education Finance Research Consortium and University at Albany
Commissioner Richard Mills, New York State Education Department
R. Hamilton Lankford, University at Albany, Chair of the Symposium
- 9:15-9:45 Allan Odden & Carolyn Kelley, University of Wisconsin
“Addressing Teacher Quality and Supply Through Compensation Policy”
- 9:45-10:15 Susanna Loeb, Stanford University
“How Teachers’ Choices Affect What a Dollar Can Buy:
Wages and Quality in K-12 Schooling”
- 10:15-10:30 Break
- 10:30-11:00 Eric Hanushek, Hoover Institute, Stanford University &
Steven Rivkin, Amherst College
“Teacher Quality and School Reform in New York”
- 11:00-11:30 Discussion of presentations
John Tyler, Brown University
Ralph Harbison, University at Albany
- 11:30-12:30 General Discussion led by Jim Kadamus, Deputy Commissioner,
New York State Education Department
- 12:30-1:30 LUNCH
- 1:30-2:00 Margaret Plecki, University of Washington
“Improving the Quality of Teaching: A Comparative Analysis of Policies and Investments in Four States”
- 2:00-2:30 C. Philip Kearney, University of Michigan
“Attracting and Retaining Quality Teachers: Can New York State
Benefit from the Experiences of the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards?”
- 2:30-2:50 Discussion of Presentations
Christopher Roellke, Vassar College
- 2:50-3:45 General Discussion led by James Dawson, New York State Board of Regents
- 3:45-4:00 Closing Comments, R. Hamilton Lankford