Global Networks and Strategic Location

In New York’s capital, in the strategic Northeast corridor of the United States, collaborations are plentiful with a broad spectrum of schools and communities, institutions of higher education and policy makers. Students in our programs also access the vast network of relationships with universities, educational systems, NGOs and government and intergovernmental agencies from around the world with which our faculty are engaged.

Ahead of the Curve

EAPS is a high quality training program for researchers, policy analysts and educational leaders. The department is home to groundbreaking research centers aimed at understanding and improving educational policy and leadership worldwide.

Global Education Policy Studies

Master of Science (MSc) • Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
Comparative & International Education Policy Studies

A global portfolio of cutting edge research, policy analysis, capacity building and technical assistance supporting policy studies and policy development in developing and developed countries is at the core of our degree programs.

Degree Programs

Whether you decide to pursue your Doctorate or Master’s of Science, both of our degree programs are designed to prepare students to be scholars or scholar-practitioners, who are globally connected and locally engaged.

Students choose one of three concentrations within their degree program:

> EDUCATIONAL POLICY
> HIGHER EDUCATION
> EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

EAPS instructional programs provide students with a solid foundation in the theory and practice of educational policy research, policy analysis and critical analytical decision-making and leadership skills.

Our programs help students gain an appreciation for the complementarity between theory, evidence and practice in our field, and how the most promising efforts to improve the quality of education in all corners of the world benefit from the close integration of theoretical understandings and empirical evidence, with practical applications.

Our Faculty and Students

A multi disciplinary team of prominent researchers and policy analysts in the areas of sociology, political science, economics and comparative education engaged in research and capacity building across the world.

Our students come from all over the globe, and once they graduate typically become academics, educational leaders, analysts and decision makers in governments, universities, international banks, development assistance agencies, non-governmental organizations and think tanks.

Faculty Members

A multi disciplinary team of prominent researchers and policy analysts engaged in research and capacity building across the world.
