The aim of the summer school is to bring together prominent experts on bilingualism and multilingualism who represent different disciplinary approaches and will discuss their state-of-the-art research.

The school is intended for postgraduate students and researchers interested in an updated overview of the field in an international academic context.