1. “Before the Flood: A National Geographic Documentary on Climate Change,”
   Thursday, March 9 at 8:00pm: This film screening is hosted by the College Democrats Club and will take place in LC19. Enjoy the free popcorn and beverages as well as a fundraiser, bake sale and raffle to support the Sierra Club of Albany. The Albany branch of the Sierra Club is involved in environmental protection locally in addition to their role as a strong advocate at the federal level. This event will be a fun opportunity for students from all political backgrounds to enjoy Leonardo DiCaprio’s new documentary, learn about climate change and help to support protecting the environment!

2. 2017 Undergraduate Research Conference Call for Abstracts, due Friday, March 24: This conference will be held Friday, April 28, from 3:00-7:00pm in the LC-Concourse and LC classrooms. This is a great opportunity to showcase your research projects with a presentation or a poster! Students can submit work from a class project or assignment, senior thesis, capstone project, honors thesis, an independent study project, an internship project or any other creative project. Apply online by Friday, March 24 at the following website: http://bit.ly/UGRapplication. E-mail UGR@albany.edu with questions.

3. Science on Tap: How to Smell Bullsh!t: Fundamentals of Skepticism, Tuesday, March 28 at 7:00pm: Every day we are bombarded by information. It's harder and harder to know what to believe, and how to tell real information from nonsense or propaganda. Our speaker, Dr. Sean Rafferty, will cover basic rules to help anyone develop their skills at telling the difference between facts and fictions, and how to tell logic from biased or irrational arguments. Come to Bier Abbey at 613 Union Street, Schenectady, NY to attend this event.

4. 2017 Dr. King Career Fair, Wednesday, March 29 from 11:00am-3:00pm: The New York State Department of Labor and the Office of General Services are pleased to announce that the 2017 Dr. King Career Fair will be held at the Empire State Plaza Convention Center in Albany. For students, especially those nearing graduation, this an exciting opportunity to explore many entry-level professional jobs available right in the area. There will be a great deal of part-time and seasonal jobs available for those students not seeking full-time employment as well. This year’s event will feature more than 140 businesses, with more than 7,000 positions available. We will be offering a variety of free services at this event, including: resume review, find success with JobsExpress, rewarding careers in public service workshop and even on-site interviews. To register for this event or for more information, visit https://labor.ny.gov/businessservices/dr-king-career-fair.shtm.

5. Liberal Studies Program: The Liberal Studies Program is an MA program that allows students to design their own degrees, taking classes across all departments in the College of Arts and Sciences. It is a very flexible and open program that allows especially strong students to get an MA, and work in areas that do not belong to a single department (for example "art and politics," or "gender and culture," or "human rights," or "globalization" and other topics). We believe this program will especially benefit strong undergraduates, who wish to develop their credentials beyond the BA, before entering the job market or applying to graduate school.

The program is 30 credits, and requires an MA thesis, and work across at least two departments, but there are very few other requirements. For more information, visit http://www.albany.edu/graduatebulletin/liberal_studies_graduate_program_curriculum.html