ELIGIBILITY
• African American, Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American high school juniors in the Tech Valley Region, (Capital Region, and parts of the Adirondacks/North Country, Hudson Valley, and Mohawk Valley)
• Academic average of 88% or higher
• Outstanding school and community leadership

NOMINATION PROCESS
• Visit web site for nomination process at www.albany.edu/hsachievers
• Complete nomination form
• Include transcript (unofficial)
• Must be postmarked by April 30

SPONSORS
• Golub Foundation
• New York State United Teachers (NYSUT)
• Touhey Family Foundation
PROGRAM INFORMATION

The University at Albany is proud to sponsor the Multicultural High School Achievers Award. This award recognizes outstanding academic, school, and community leadership among our African American, Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American high school juniors (11th graders). For over two decades, the University at Albany has reached out to the local community to recognize distinguished leadership among its ethnic diverse populations.

Previously known as the High School Achievers of Color Award, this program provides the University with the opportunity to reward juniors from our community who have distinguished high school academic records and who are involved in numerous school and community activities. Awardees have achieved impressive high school averages and are nominated by their guidance counselor or community leader. A day-long event featuring activities such as campus tours, student panels, and services fairs take place on the University at Albany’s uptown campus. The day culminates with a recognition program and reception.

Throughout the years, this program has served to motivate awardees to continue their leadership role in college and beyond. This annual salute is just one of the many ways the University at Albany celebrates ethnic differences and to date, we have honored more than 4,200 students.