Kosuke Matsukawa

Kosuke’s Christopher DeCormier Memorial Scholarship supported linguistic fieldwork on Chicahuaxtla Triqui and Copala Triqui (Otomanguean, Mexico). The results of his fieldwork were presented at linguistics conferences (Linguistic Society of America Annual Meeting, Society for the Study of the Indigenous Languages of the Americas Annual Meeting, International Conference on Historical Linguistics, etc.) and published as a book (with Dr. Broadwell and others "The Origin of the Sun and Moon: A Copala Triqui Legend" from LINCOM Europa) and as articles (Reconstruction of Proto-Trique Phonemes. "U. Penn Working Papers in Linguistics 14(1)", etc.).
