Your research should be original, if not completely unique. It must report findings not previously cited in scientific literature. It is important that:

- Content and style be consistent with professional scientific conference papers. Consult the library or your teacher for format.
- Your research is concise and progresses logically from hypothesis to conclusion.
- Conclusions (negative, positive or inconclusive) demonstrate that you attempted to prove your hypothesis using scientific principles.
- Correct grammar and spelling are used as well and attention taken to presentation.

Format
- 8 ½” X 11” white paper.
- One inch margins all around.
- 20 page limit, doubled spaced (In counting pages, count: Abstract, Review of Literature, Statement of Purpose, Methods and Materials, Results, Discussion, Conclusions and Significance of Findings and any graphs or charts. Do not count Table of Contents, Certifications, Lists of Figures, References or Citations).
- Times New Roman 12 point font, laser printed or typed.
- Each page must include a header with only your last name and page number.

Paper Content
- Cover Page must include: Your Name, School Name, and Project Title.
- Acknowledgement of major assistance.
- The Abstract Paragraph must be included – not the Abstract Form.
- Table of Contents organized by topics and sub-topics and include the page numbers on which each begins.
- Lists of Figures and Tables follow the Table of Contents and list graphs, drawings, tables, photographs by page number.
- Introduction or the abstract paragraph.
- Statement of Purpose.
- Methods and Materials.
- Results (data or findings).
- Discussion and Conclusion.
- References or Literature Cited: References must be cited at least once in the paper and listed at the end of the paper. Citations (footnotes, endnotes) are required for important statements of facts or opinions taken from written sources. Each citation to a reference should be given in the body of the text in the style of scientific journal articles.
- Certifications must be the last three pages of the paper.
- Submit one copy of your research paper bound with slide-on spine report cover (do not staple, bind or clip).

* Remember, inaccurate or incomplete submissions will not be considered*
