Nirgendwo in Afrika
(Nowhere in Africa)
2001

Directed by Caroline Link

A successful Jewish lawyer living in Germany during the rise of the Third Reich, aware of the increasing dangers of remaining in Germany, seeks exile on a farm in Kenya, while his socially prominent wife and his young daughter stay behind. They eventually reunite in Kenya, but the transition is not easy for them. This film is based on an autobiographical novel written by Stefanie Zweig. ~ Mark Deming, Rovi
