What Can I Do with a Spanish Degree?

Here are a few career possibilities...

Business: Businesses of all kinds need Spanish-speaking employees for positions in banking, media, marketing, public relations, human resources, healthcare, research, the arts, publishing, import-export firms, and more.

Education: Teach Spanish at elementary through high school levels or teach English or other subjects to Spanish speakers in the U.S. or abroad. Work as an exchange program coordinator.

Government: Become a Foreign Service officer with the U.S. State Department. Work in law enforcement, FBI, CIA, NSA, INS, translation/interpretation, or the Armed Forces.

Tourism: Work as a travel agent, airline employee, or in the hospitality or entertainment industries.

Social Service: Be a social worker, vocational counselor, or join a humanitarian, development or human rights organization.

For more info: Languages, Literatures & Cultures
HU235, (518) 442-4100/4222
www.albany.edu/lnc
www.facebook.com/uallc

*Some of these careers may require a dual major or certification/licensure, others hire entry level employees proficient in Spanish with a bachelor’s degree only.