UALBANY STUDENTS

BEFORE THEY BECAME “CLASSICS,” THESE RUSSIAN AUTHORS CHALLENGED THE WORLD.

HAVE YOU MET THEM?

Maybe it’s time you did.

Each challenged the established order of things in the 19th Century—in art, in politics, in religion—in a vast country that bridges Asia and Europe, a country where the act of writing remains fraught with risk to life and liberty. In prose masterpieces by Pushkin, Lermontov, Gogol, Turgenev, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, and Chekhov, all in English translation, you will encounter authors of genius and great humor grappling with every aspect of life, religion, philosophy, politics, sexuality, the supernatural, the horror and meaning of death, war and peace, crime and punishment, scandal and conformity, freedom and necessity, good and evil. Course is conducted in English and satisfies the Humanities Gen Ed.

They’re only strangers until you open their books.

ARUS 251: Masterpieces of 19th-Century Russian Literature
MWF 11:30-12:25 in SS 131

For more info call 518-442-4222 or email language@albany.edu.