The University at Albany and SUNY Downstate Medical use the “Power of SUNY” to help create the next generation of Public Health leaders in the Republic of Georgia

University at Albany School of Public Health alumni who were trained under a NIH Fogarty International funded program guided by faculty from the SUNY Downstate Medical Center and the School of Public Health in Albany now use their public health training to lead the International School of Public Health in Tbilisi, Georgia.