

UAlbany

University at Albany Magazine
Spring 2006, Volume 15, Number 3

Features

8 Keeping the Senior Years Golden
As the Baby Boomer generation turns 60, UAlbany's School of Social Welfare is exploring new ways to help seniors stay young.
By Claudia Ricci

15 Camp Dippikill: UAlbany Unplugged
Nestled in the Adirondacks, Camp Dippikill is the largest student-owned retreat in the country. Students and alumni have been coming to Dippikill for back-to-nature experiences since 1956.
By Paul Grondahl

18 Norman Snyder: Portrait of an Entrepreneur
Businessman Norman Snyder, who has committed $5 million to the University, says he got his start at UAlbany's School of Business.
By Carol Olechowski

48 The Potter Club
A small but dedicated group of alumni works to keep the memory of the Potter Club alive.
By Carol Olechowski

The Champions

Jamar Wilson, left, and Brent Wilson celebrate the basketball team's 80-67 victory over Vermont March 11. With the big win, the Great Danes captured their first-ever America East conference championship and NCAA Division I Tournament berth.

Departments

- 3 News and Notes
- 20 Community Connection
- 24 Sports
- 26 Gifts at Work
- 28 Class News and Notes

Cover

M.S.W. intern Naomi Koelewyn with volunteer Lillian R. Samuel

Photography by Mark McCarty

Photography: The Associated Press, Jim McKnight