Wednesday, October 19, 2016
12:00 – 12:45 PM
Classroom 3
University at Albany School of Public Health
George Education Center | One University Place
Rensselaer, NY 12144

This talk is presented by the Center for Global Health & Translational Science at SUNY Upstate Medical

As part of the SUNY Global Health Institute’s 2016–2017 Virtual Grand Rounds Series

To find out more about this talk and the SUNY Global Health Institute, please contact John Justino (jjustino@albany.edu) at the Center for Global Health

Kristopher M. Paolino, MD, MTM&H
Clinical Investigator, Department of Medicine
Attending, Division of Infectious Diseases

- Overview of Department of Defense (DoD) global health initiatives/programs
- Critical health protection issues for deployed warfighters
- Why and how the DoD supports global infectious disease research
- How Walter Reed Army Institute of Research became a driving factor in vaccine and infection model development
- DoD funding mechanisms & opportunities for students and faculty