Information on nominating yourself to be a member of the new Rockefeller College Dean’s Leadership Council!

The purpose of the Rockefeller College Dean’s Leadership Council is to bring together College leadership and active and interested students in Public Policy and Political Science to participate in a council that advises Rockefeller College on matters of College and University policy. The RCDLC will meet at least once a semester with the Dean and other faculty leadership of the College for the purpose of consultation. The timing and agenda of these meetings will be established by the elected leadership of the RCDLC and the Rockefeller College Dean. In addition, the RCDLC will be encouraged to participate in the planning of college-wide events and cooperate with other student groups to foster community. The group will be invited to participate in Alumni events and called upon to assist the College as student ambassadors.

To be eligible students must have at least a 2.5 GPA, Junior standing, and have completed or in progress at least 12 credits of Public Policy or Political Science coursework. Graduating Seniors are not eligible to apply. To self nominate for the RCDLC, students should submit a degree audit, a list of service/group participation and leadership undertaken since they began their undergraduate education (here and at any transfer institution), and a 250 word maximum self nomination statement focused on what they would bring to this new group. These are due by Wednesday March 28th in Humanities 16.
