

NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER COLLEGE
OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS & POLICY

UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY State University of New York

To: Rockefeller College Faculty and Friends

From: Jeffrey Straussman, Dean
Rockefeller College of Public Affairs and Policy, University at Albany

Date: February 6, 2008

RE: TUESDAY POLICY LUNCH SCHEDULE – SPRING 2008

---

The spring session of the Rockefeller College Tuesday Policy Lunch series got off to a great start yesterday. This semester, a group of prominent scholars, advisors, journalists, and public servants will deliver talks on a broad range of policy issues facing local, state, federal, and international governments. Please join us for what promises to be an interesting semester of policy discussions.

All talks take place in the Levitt Room, which is on the first floor of Milne Hall, on the Downtown Campus. Attendees should arrive between 12:15 and 12:25 p.m. The programs start promptly at 12:25 and end at 1:30 p.m.

February 12 Fron Nahzi, Vice President for Programs, East-West Management Institute

February 26 International Speaker TBA

March 4 Eric Lane, Distinguished Professor of Public Law and Public Service, Hofstra University; author of The Genius of America: How the Constitution Saved Our Country and Why It Can Do It Again

March 11 Jonathan Landay, National Security and Intelligence Correspondent, McClatchy Newspapers

March 18 Dana Chasin, Senior Advisor, OMB Watch

April 1 International Speaker TBA

April 8 Sheri Rosenberg, Director of the Program in Holocaust and Human Rights Studies and Director of the Human Rights and Genocide Clinic, Cardozo Law School at Yeshiva University

April 22 Karen DeWitt, Capitol Bureau Chief, New York State Public Radio

April 29 Senator Kemp Hannon, New York State Senate; Chairman, NYS Senate Standing Committee on Health