RE: TUESDAY POLICY LUNCH SCHEDULE – SPRING 2009

The Rockefeller College Tuesday Policy Lunch series begins next week with a diverse slate of speakers. On most Tuesdays from February 3 through April 28, practitioners and experts in such fields as finance, politics, real estate, and international relations will deliver talks on a broad range of topics. A recurring theme for this series of talks is the economy—many speakers will examine how the economic downturn is impacting New York State. A secondary focus for the series is international concerns—several speakers will address global issues of politics and democracy. Please join us for what promises to be an interesting semester of presentations and discussions.

All talks take place in the Levitt Room, which is on the first floor of Milne Hall, on the Downtown Campus of the University at Albany at 135 Western Avenue. Attendees should arrive between 12:15 and 12:25 p.m. The programs start promptly at 12:25 and end at 1:30 p.m.
