This course focuses on the relationship between democracy and time. The question of time in “the age of the iPhone” is marked by rapidly advancing technologies, proliferating social media, and the ever-increasing speed of communications. Like never before, time is relevant to the idea of democratic politics. The direction of inquiry this course takes emanates from the combination of two overarching questions: What can we learn about the notion of time from the perspective of democratic politics, and what can we learn about politics in a form of questions of power, oppression, class relations, exploitation, labor, technology and communication from the perspectives of time and temporality?

Throughout this course, we will situate the notion of politics in the context of modernity and focus on questions such as the following: Can democracy be sustained in modern, Western societies when citizens feel they have no time for politics? Does the social-political sphere of society contain one or many times? Is free time really “free”? How does speed affect social consciousness? Is there a relationship between power and time? How are particular time-regimes created, and what is their purpose? And, most importantly, does democracy require a specific kind of time, and do we have the time for democracy today?

Learning Objectives

- Development of understanding of the key normative theoretical aspects of democracy and democratic political practice.
- Developing a cross disciplinary approach to the concept of time and its theoretical analysis in the context of the political phenomena.
- Theorizing the notion of democracy from the perspectives of temporality and time.

Required Texts

These are the books that we will be using throughout the semester. These books are required for this course and they are available for purchase at the university bookstore:

Additional texts have been placed online on Blackboard. You should print them out, read them carefully, and bring them to class with on the date of the assigned readings you. Reading them online or on your electronic devices in class will not do it.

Course Requirements

As a student registered for this class and receiving course credit, your responsibilities are:

- Attend all lectures.
- Arrive to lectures on time.
- Complete all readings by the assigned date, and come to class prepared.
- Contribute to a respectful academic environment, refraining from unrelated conversations or use of technology.
- Bring assigned readings to class with you.
- Be an active listener during the lectures: take notes, ask questions, raise points of critique.

Assignments

This course does not have a standard midterm or final exam. Instead, there is a midterm paper and final research paper, which will carry the same academic and grade values as midterm and final exams. In addition, there will be two short, two-page homework assignments, each in the form of responding to a question that will be emailed to your SUNY e-mail address and also posted on Blackboard. You will have to print out your answer, bring it to class on the day the homework is due, and submit it to me at the end of the lecture before you leave the room. Remember, this is a political theory class. There are no “right” or “wrong” answers. What is required is your own critical and analytical thinking. You will do well if these characteristics are reflected in your homework assignments.

Office Hours:

You should not feel any hesitation in engaging me in a dialogue on the course material at any time before or after the class. You’re also welcome to see me during my office hours: Mondays and Wednesdays, 2:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m., in the Humanities B16 office. In addition, I will be available to meet you outside of these hours at a time convenient for you if you schedule an appointment with me by e-mail at least two days in advance.

Blackboard:

As mentioned above, a few additional readings are placed on Blackboard for your convenience. Find the course, RPOS 103, History of Political Theory, and then click on it. Here you will find readings for the course and the syllabus. The short homework assignments will also be posted on Blackboard in addition to being sent to your SUNY e-mail address. I strongly recommend you to download and print off the readings and bring them into lectures.

Attendance

You are responsible for all material covered in the class. Attendance will be taken within the first five minutes of the class. You should make arrangements with other students to share notes if you miss the class. If you have an excused absence, make sure you do assigned readings first, then come to me during office hours to discuss the missed material.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism means to pass off someone else’s work as your own. Please be warned that if found guilty of plagiarism, you will automatically fail the course and receive an E grade. Further actions will be taken, including sending your case before a university committee. Remember, taking text off internet sites such as Sparknotes or Wikipedia and "reworking them" will also earn you an E along with further actions. The whole idea of this course is for you to engage in active, critical thinking of your own and to demonstrate that you worked with the texts and on the basis of it you are constructing clear arguments with proper citations.

Course Grade Breakdown

Midterm paper: 25%.
Three short response papers: 20% (No more than 2 pages each)
Final paper: 40%
Class participation and attendance: 15%

Overall Course Grade Requirements:

1. Class Participation and attendance (15%): Based on evaluation of your participation in class discussions, your preparedness for each class, attendance and lateness. Having an individual grasp of the reading at hand prior to classroom sessions means that you will be able to understand the relevant concepts and ideas and be able to apply them to the discussions with your fellow students during each session in a critical, respectful and meaningful way. Your ability to participate in the class discussion will depend on the effort you put in reading assigned materials at home. The texts are engaging and exciting but also complicated and time consuming. Spent time wrestling with ideas of each thinker and you will be rewarded by gaining a deeper understanding of their arguments which will enrich your knowledge as a political thinker.

2. Two short response papers (20%) These are short 2 page answers to the questions pertaining to a particular sections of the course. Questions will be distributed three days prior to the due date.

3. Midterm paper (25%) 5-6 page response paper on a topic relevant to the material covered in the first half of the semester. A set of questions will be distributed one week prior to the due date. No late submissions, or submissions by e-mail will be accepted. You will have to hand in a physical hard copy of your paper to me at the place and on the date of a mid-term exam. This is the ONLY WAY your midterm papers will be accepted. The midterm exam date will be Friday, October 21, 9:20 am – 10:15 am in the same classroom. (BA 229)

4. Final Paper (40%) 8 page paper on a question, problem, or topic that you think is important in relation to what has been studied and discussed during the class and in the readings. Depending on the question, you may have to do some additional research in order to gain the proper level of knowledge on the thinker or the problem you have chosen to investigate. You are expected to finalize and approve your topic with the instructor no later than Friday, December 2nd. Late submissions, or submissions by e-mail will not be accepted. You will have to hand in a physical hard copy of your final paper to me at the place and the date of a final exam. This is the ONLY WAY your papers will be accepted. The exam date and place will be Friday, December 16th at 3:30pm – 5:30pm in the same classroom (BA 229)

Midterm and Final Papers

Your ability to understand and critically analyze the course material will be assessed through a midterm and final research papers. No late submission of mid-term or final papers will be accepted.

Late mid-term or final paper submission will be accepted or incomplete grades will be given only in the event of serious personal or family illness or other unusual circumstances approved by the dean of undergraduate studies.

For more information on the University's Standards of Academic Integrity see:
http://www.albany.edu/health_center/medicalexcuse.shtml

Lectures

Lecture is a time for a professor to present the readings and unpack the arguments presented in texts at hand. However, I strongly value the benefits of a seminar type lectures. The form of intellectual dialogue is the most rewarding academic practice. That means, you are strongly encouraged to participate in a dialogue about the material. Feel free to interrupt me by raising your hands and asking questions. Do not shy from respectfully responding to other students’ arguments and participating in classroom discussions. Your participation will boost your grade overall. I encourage you to be an active participant in lectures, rather than a passive listener.

Grade Appeals
In order to appeal a grade on a particular assignment, you should contact your TA or the professor during office hours within 2 weeks of receiving the assignment back and submit a written explanation of your reasons for believing that the grade should be changed, not to exceed 2 pages. A grade appeal may result in the grade being raised, or left as is, depending on the results of the review. After two weeks, grade complaints will not be considered unless there are mitigating circumstances like a serious illness.

What do I do if I am sick or need alternate arrangements to fulfill course requirements?
Any mitigating circumstances should be brought to the attention of the professor as soon as possible. Any foreseeable circumstances (athletic event, religious holiday, e.g.) must be raised at the beginning of the semester or as early as possible.

Excused Absences
If you must miss the mid-term or final paper deadline or more than two normal classes, you must have documentation from the dean of undergraduate studies (Lecture Center 30 Phone: 518-442-3950) or your grade will be adversely affected. For more on University's Medical Excuse Policy see: http://www.albany.edu/health_center/medicalexcuse.shtml

Reasonable accommodation
Reasonable accommodations will be provided for students with documented physical, sensory, systemic, cognitive, learning and psychiatric disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring accommodation in this class, please notify the Director of Disabled Student Services (Campus Center 137, 442-5490). That office will provide the course instructor with verification of your disability, and will recommend appropriate accommodations (http://www.albany.edu/studentlife/dss/Accommodation.html).

If you wish to discuss academic accommodations, for the above reasons or other cases including religious holidays, inform the instructor at the beginning of the term. Reasonable accommodations are generally established well in advance and rarely granted retroactively.

What can I do to succeed academically in this course?
The Basics: Show up, read, listen, take notes, ask questions
The most important indicator for success is completing assigned readings, regular attendance and active participation in a class.

Visit Office Hours
I will hold office hours two hours each week. You are strongly encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to discuss material or other questions on political theory, or if you are seeking an advice on academic success. If you are unable to attend the scheduled office hours due to a conflict with another class, email me to request an alternate time.

Writing Center Services (Humanities 140)

Academic Support Services (Library Room 94)
Arrange individual and group tutorial as well as study skills workshops on time management, how to improve your concentration, essay exam skills, listening skills, and overcoming procrastination. Visit their website: http://www.albany.edu/oass/support_services.htm or contact them at 442-5180.

COURSE OUTLINE

Monday - Aug. 29
- Introduction.

What Time?

Wednesday - Aug. 31

Friday – Sept. 2

Monday – Sept. 5
- No class – Labor Day

Cosmological Time as Political Order

Wednesday - Sept. 7

Friday – Sept. 9

Time as measure and change

Monday - Sept. 12

Wednesday – Sept. 14

Time theories

Friday – Sept. 16

Ancient democracy and time

Monday – Sept. 19
- Aristotle, Politics (On blackboard) page_1 and page_2.

Modernity and Time

Speed and Politics

Wednesday – Sept. 21

Friday – Sept. 23
- Zygmund Bauman, Time and Space Reunited. (On blackboard)

Monday – Sept. 26
Wednesday - Sept. 28

Friday – Sept. 30
First short response paper questions announced

Monday – Oct. 3
No Class – Rosh Hashanah

Wednesday – Oct. 5

Friday – Oct. 7
First short response papers due in class

Monday – Oct. 10

Wednesday – Oct. 12
No classes – Yom Kippur

Friday – Oct. 14

Monday – Oct. 17

Wednesday – Oct. 19

Friday – Oct. 21
Midterm paper questions announced

Monday – Oct. 24

Time, Work, Emancipation

Wednesday – Oct. 26

Friday – Oct. 28

Monday – Oct. 31
MIDTERM EXAM PAPERS DUE IN CLASS
The Disappearance of “Human” Time

Wednesday – Nov. 2

Friday – Nov. 4

Monday – Nov. 7

Wednesday – Nov. 9

Friday – Nov. 11

Time and Power

Monday – Nov. 14

Wednesday – Nov. 16

Friday – Nov. 18

Monday – Nov. 21

Time, History, Modern Culture

Wednesday – Nov. 23
Second short response paper question announced

Friday – Nov. 25
No class – Thanks giving break

Monday – Nov. 28
Second response paper due in class

Democracy and Information Society

Wednesday – Nov. 30

Friday – Dec. 2
Final paper proposals due in class
Monday – Dec. 5

Wednesday – Dec. 7

Friday – Dec. 9

Monday – Dec. 12

Wednesday – Dec. 14
• Course Wrap-up

Friday – Dec. 16
FINAL EXAM. Final exam papers should be handed in in the same classroom between 3:30 pm and 5:30 pm.