

Making the Connection between Screening and a Public Health Response

Robert Morrow, MD

Assoc. Clinical Professor, Department of Family and Social Medicine. Montefiore Medical Center, Albert Einstein College of Medicine

Joan Faxon

Program Administrator, NYS Office for the Prevention of Domestic Violence

The New York State Health Department's Bureau of Women's Health, in conjunction with the University at Albany School of Public Health and the New York State Office for the Prevention of Domestic Violence will present full-day, regional training sessions at three locations statewide on the connection between domestic violence and public health.

The goal of the Intimate Partner Violence training is to raise awareness of domestic violence and its impact on women's health, and to encourage all healthcare providers to adopt universal domestic violence screening in order to prevent further injury, morbidity and mortality.
