UPDATE ON MEDICAID REFORM
IN NEW YORK STATE

Jason Helgerson
State of New York Medicaid Director
Deputy Commissioner
Office of Health Insurance Programs
New York State Department of Health

Join us for discussion on the Medicaid reform initiative in New York State, with an update on the work of the Medicaid Redesign Teams and the implications for health care policy in the state. Where is NYS heading with respect to Medicaid as the work of the teams moves forward? What recommendations have been implemented to date? What challenges are being faced and are expected as the work continues?

Jason Helgerson is New York State's Medicaid Director, responsible for New York State's Medicaid Program, and deputy commissioner for the Office of Health Insurance Programs at the New York State Department of Health. He serves as the executive director for New York's Medicaid Redesign Team, leading the effort to fundamentally reshape the state's Medicaid program in order to both lower costs and improve health care quality. He formally serviced as the State of Wisconsin's Medicaid Director and the principle project sponsor for BadgerCare Plus, Wisconsin's health care initiative that provides access to affordable health care for 98% of Wisconsin residents, including all children. Helgerson served as executive assistant/policy director to the secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Health and Family Services (DHFS) and as the executive assistant for the Wisconsin Department of Revenue. Jason received his Master of Public Policy degree from the University of Chicago, and his B.A. in Political Science from American University in Washington, DC.
