

Two UA SPH faculty members have each been profiled in the forthcoming book, Moments in Leadership: Case Studies in Public Health Policy and Practice.

Dr. Dale Morse

Edward Hannan, PhD

Edward Hannan, PhD, MS, MS, FACC, Distinguished Professor and Associate Dean for Research, and Dale Morse, MD, MS, Professor of Epidemiology and Assistant Commissioner, Office of Science of the New York State Department of Health have each been highlighted in a chapter of the upcoming book, Moments in Leadership: Case Studies in Public Health Policy and Practice. Now nearing completion, the volume will be printed by year's end. The formal launch of the book is planned at the AcademyHealth National Health Policy Conference in Washington, D.C. [February 4-5, 2008].

Dr. Hannan has also been invited to participate on a panel at the National Academy Health Meeting to introduce the book to the public health and health policy community. The hour-long panel session, titled Case Studies in Public Health Policy and Practice, will feature five of the 22 individuals profiled in the published volume.
