MODULE 3: “TIPS” FOR THE TRAINER

- Prior to the training trainers will want to order “ICWA Desk Guides,” and preview the DVD “What Caseworkers Need to Know about ICWA.” Both are available from NYS OCFS Office of Native American Issues (See Related Links). For trainings held outside of New York State, please contact state-specific resources and NICWA (See Related Links). Trainers should be prepared to respond to questions and comments based on racial stereotypes of Native Americans.

- The yarn activity is a good way to get participants up and moving around; try to involve as many participants as possible. If the weather is nice, the activity can be done outside or in any large area. When conducting the string activity in the training room, try to move desks or tables aside to allow room to form the circle. Remind the participants that they will be using the Fuller Family again in Module 6. If time permits have the participants read the scenario from their workbook prior to the activity.
