The Living-Learning Community application is part of the University at Albany’s housing application process and will be available to you when you apply for housing through MyUAlbany as of May 2, 2016.

- Select the L-LC you would like to join from the list
- Select your intended major (including “undecided”), so that the staff in Student Engagement can be sure the preferred L-LC will be a good fit for you
- Tell us why you would like to be a member of the L-LC you have chosen and how you can contribute to that particular community

Students who are selected to be members of their chosen L-LC will be notified via University at Albany e-mail beginning late June.

Questions about the L-LCs can be directed to Student Engagement at studentengagement@albany.edu.

General questions about housing and roommate assignments can be directed to the Department of Residential Life at reslife@albany.edu.

The Office of the Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education works to provide opportunities and pathways for students to be active and engaged in their studies, both inside and outside the classroom.

“Living with other motivated freshmen, who have similar interests and courses, puts L-LC students on a team where they can bring out the best in each other right from the start.”
- Shane O’Neill, Community Assistant
World of Global Medicine and Human Rights
The World of Global Medicine and Human Rights is a community for biology, pre-health, and public health majors. It is especially great for students interested in healthcare professions (medicine, physician assistance, physical therapy, nursing). Students will connect with faculty, staff, and interns of the Global Institute for Health and Human Rights and participate in activities such as:

- Guest visits by professionals involved in research, advocacy, and fieldwork in areas such as HIV research and training, newborn health in developing countries, death with dignity, and refugee camp issues
- Skype globally on international research
- Community Service
- Social gatherings with your L-LC friends
- Opportunities to learn about and apply for an internship with the GIHHR
- Invitations to Albany Medical Center events

Living
As a member of the World of Global Medicine and Human Rights, you will live with other incoming freshmen who share your interest in healthcare and health sciences.

Learning
You will take one or two of your classes together in the fall and spring semesters of your freshman year and attend co-curricular events together as a community.

Community
As a member of an L-LC, you will have a built-in community of friends from the start!

Friends: Study and socialize with fellow L-LC members. Tackle those first-year courses with your friends by forming study groups where you live!

World Ambassadors: “Learn the ropes” from peers selected from last year’s most engaged L-LC students.

Community Assistant: Meet weekly with an upper-class/graduate student to plan or attend social, academic, and community service events.

Lead Faculty Member: Get to know a member of the faculty outside of the classroom at weekly lunches or dinners in your own dining hall!

Academic Advisor: Each L-LC has its own Academic Advisor to help you plan your pathway to success.

Leadership Opportunities: Become a World Representative. Go on to assume a campus-wide leadership role.

Recent national studies have shown that living-learning communities positively impact student success!

For more information about the World of Global Medicine and Human Rights, including classes and activities, or to learn more about the responsibilities of being in an L-LC, please visit our website.

www.albany.edu/student_engagement