As signpost, traffic cop, or collie dog, all in the effort to help a pupil.

—Dorothy Wallace, "The Hornet's Opinion"

Contents

Prelace 21
April Morgan

Acknowledgments 211

Introduction 27
Marilyn Kallet

I. We Are Educators of Whole Human Beings

Ten Surprises about Teaching 3
Cathleen Kennedy

Taste the Toads Again 14
Marcus L. Ambrester

Teaching for Minimalists 19
Phyllis Raphael

Beyond the Three Bears: 25
What I Know Now
Marilyn Kallet

Boundaries and Frames: 31
Nontransference in Teaching
Robert Langs

Three Loves 41
Father Leopold Keffler

Great Teachers and Dead Sharks 45
Michael Huchmann
II. Stances and Strategies: Teaching as a Balancing Act

Don’t Dance with Wolves 81
Jackie Wilcox

Teaching from Behind 85
Michael L. Keene

The Art of Motivating Students 93
Gayle M. Seymour

And the Oscar Goes To . . . 97
Thomas W. Woolley Jr.

Teaching as a Balancing Act: 101
Strategies for Managing Competing Objectives
Dave Berque

Teaching: What Has Worked for Me 104
Srinivasan “Rajiv” Mahadevan

A Letter from James Buchanan 117
James Buchanan

It’s Wednesday: Take Two 110
Louis J. Gross

The Hornet’s Opinion 113
Dorothy Wallace
Teaching as a Balancing Act

III. Contexts: Teaching and Culture

Creating a Sense of Community in the Classroom
Orville Vernon Burton

Diversity-Conscious Teaching: From the Bearbag to the Bottom Line
Richard D. Bucher

Paradoxical Pathways: A Feminist Teacher Treads Skillfully
Helena Meyer-Knapp

Material Culture as a Window into the Social World
Linda B. Arthur

The Education of a Professor
David Laszlocek

Note to Self: A Member of the "Backpacked and Briefcased" Shares the Reminders That Keep Him Going
James "Bucky" Carter

Good at Any Age
D. Allen Carroll

Contributors
Index