Table of Contents

About the Authors
Preface

1 Deepening Our Understanding of Adjunct Faculty
Richard E. Lyons

2 Ensuring an Effective Start for Adjunct Faculty: Orientation With Multiple Options
Kevin Yee

3 The Part-Time Faculty Institute: Strategically Designed and Continually Assessed Marianne H. Hutti, Gale S. Rhodes, Joni Allison, Evelyn Lauterbach

4 A Proven Program for Supporting Adjunct Faculty Online
Daryl Peterson

5 Mentoring Adjunct Instructors: Fostering Bonds That Strengthen Teaching and Learning
Cynthia Zutter

6 A Mentoring Network for Adjunct Faculty: From Proposal to Pilot to Five-Year Plan
Gayle Nolan, Cynthia Siegrist, Nancy Richard

7 A Consortium Approach to Supporting Part-Time Faculty
Helen Burnstad, Ben Hayes, Cindy Hess, Ann-Marie West

8 An Applied Course in Teaching That Serves the Home and Neighboring Institutions
Thomas Lux
About the Authors

Richard E. Lyons is the Senior Advisor for Faculty Development at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. He leads the development and management of faculty development initiatives across the university's campuses through an array of academic conferences. He also serves as the director of the Faculty Development Institute that provides support services on all campuses. Since 1972 he has focused on the development of faculty development. Focusing on the development of adjunct faculty, he is the author of several books including Strategies for Adjunct Faculty (Allyn & Bacon, 2015), and Age of Accountability (Allyn & Bacon, 2012).

Dr. Lyons earned his bachelor’s and master’s degree in business education, and his Ed.D. in curriculum and instruction from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. He can be reached at lyons@uncg.edu.

Joni Allison has served since 2001 as the Assistant Vice President for the Center for Teaching and Learning at the University of Tennessee. In her current position, she served as the Co-Director of Center for Teaching and Learning and Associate Dean for Academic Engagement. She also served as the Director of the Center for Teaching and Learning and Assistant Dean of the Graduate School. She earned her master’s degree in adult education at the University of Tennessee. She earned her master’s degree in adult education at the University of Tennessee. She can be reached at joni.allison@utk.edu.