Based on the information already studied and the links provided, write a 1-2 page essay describing the cost of war. This essay should include an introduction and a conclusion and three paragraphs which clearly define your position on: What is the cost of war? Is war worth it in the end? Or, are the costs too heavy?

Choose a position and include at least three supporting details which persuade the reader for or against war.

This essay should include details from each of the three wars that show their similarities to help prove your point of view. Please make sure your essay has a definite position and sticks to that position throughout the paper, is clearly organized with supporting details, and all sources are referenced.
(Supporting details)

3rd Paragraph:

___________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________

(3rd argument/reason for your position)

- ___________________________________________________________________
- ___________________________________________________________________
- ___________________________________________________________________
- ___________________________________________________________________

(Supporting Details)

Conclusion:________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________

*You might want to include more arguments or supporting details than there are lines provided and that’s ok. Please use the back of your paper to add this information.