

Presidential Doctoral Fellowship for Research Training in Health Disparities

UNIVERSITY
AT ALBANY
State University of New York

Pursue any doctoral program at the University at Albany and receive cutting-edge trans-disciplinary training in health disparities...

TRAINING /MENTORSHIP

- Completion of Health Disparities Graduate Certificate Program.
- Training through four experiential learning placements in research labs, community groups, NGOs, state/local health departments.
- Dedicated writing & statistical support.
- Engagement with the local community health task forces.
- Participation in national conference on health disparities hosted by the University President.

FINANCIAL BENEFITS

- Complete tuition and fees.
- Compensation of $18,000 for training assistantship.
- Funding for travel to national professional meetings.
- Funding for membership in health disparities related professional association(s).

ELIGIBILITY

- Excellent preparation for doctoral study.
- Masters degree preferred (but not required).
- Member of an under-represented group.
- Out-of-state and in-state students are encouraged to apply.

HOW TO APPLY:

- Apply before February 21 of the year you intend to begin.
- For more information visit our website at:
www.albany.edu/cemhd/fellowship

For more information contact:
CEMHD@albany.edu

"Of all the forms of inequality, injustice in health is the most shocking and the most inhuman..." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., March 25, 1966