

Efforts of the NYS Office of Children & Family Services to Address Racial Disparity in Child Welfare

Presented by Greg Owens, LMSW

April 18, 2013
12:15 – 1:30 pm

Levitt Room
Downtown Campus

Bring lunch if you wish

Greg Owens, LMSW, specializes in Criminal and Juvenile Justice. He has worked as a clinician and manager in various settings including residential treatment and community-based organizations and has worked for NYS Division for Youth/Office for Children and Family Services for 25 years. He is currently the Director of Special Populations and is responsible for statewide initiatives including mentoring, youth gangs and violence, disproportionate minority representation, cultural competence and responsible fatherhood,

Sponsored by:

School of Social Welfare

Center for the Elimination of Minority Health Disparities