

Mission Statement

University at Albany Code Administration

The University at Albany Code Administration unit works within the framework of the Office of Facilities Management to provide for life safety and the integrity of the built environment through education, engineering controls, and enforcement of the Uniform Code, applicable state and federal regulations, and State University of New York policies and procedures. Community stewardship of the natural environment is addressed through its stormwater management program, the handling of campus hazardous and universal wastes, and the application of the Energy Code to campus construction projects. Code Administration supports scientific instruction, research, and safety through its Environmental Health & Safety functions.
