Institute in Education: Competition, Marketization, and Enrollment Management in Higher Education (3)
This course offered online through the Blackboard Learning System. This course is a graduate seminar designed to analyze the theoretical concepts and practices of enrollment management that have evolved over the last 40 years at colleges and universities. Enrollment management strategies will be examined within the broader context of higher education administration. Enrollment management has evolved in response to the changing climate in the marketplace and forces encroaching on these institutions. This course analyzes how effective enrollment planning connects an institution’s mission, current state, and the changing environment to a long-term strategic enrollment and fiscal health plan of action.
