Courses in International Affairs

Graduate Courses

R Int 502
Economics for Global Affairs (4)
This course offered fully online. This course provides an introduction to microeconomics and macroeconomics as well as the principles, policies, and practices of international trade and finance that are fundamental for understanding international economic relations and the global economy. This course is designed for students without an economics background. Students who pass a microeconomics and macroeconomics placement examination may take a more advanced economics course as a substitute.
Prerequisite: Completion or concurrent enrollment in RINT 503 Quantitative Approaches to International Affairs.
(2548) Murray, Charles
6 Week 1: May 24-July 2
Scheduled synchronous class meetings via Zoom:
MTTh 6:00p.m.-9:15p.m.