Understanding issues of diversity is central to the curriculum and to the research endeavors of our internationally recognized faculty. Our students use interdisciplinary approaches to tackle some of the major problems of the twenty-first century Americas.

The Certificate of Graduate Study, Master of Art in Latin American, Caribbean and U.S. Latino Studies (LACS), and Spanish Ph.D. program with a concentration in LACS provide students with the analytical tools and conceptual frameworks to understand the causes and consequences of the forces that are redefining the region and hemisphere. LACS graduate students will:

- Develop research skills to make meaningful contributions
- Develop an understanding of the history, politics, and culture of the Americas and its place in global processes
- Develop skills to apply a social justice perspective
- Develop a range of competencies to enhance professional profile
- Participate in speakers' series, seminars, conferences and special lectures that promote intellectually rewarding dialogues across the disciplines with noted scholars

“I CAN ALREADY SAY THAT LACS IS PREPARING ME BY GIVING ME THE TOOLS I NEED TO PURSUE MY VISION OF LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES, INCLUDING THE DIASPORA.”

NARCISA NUÑEZ, LACS Ph.D. STUDENT

The Certificate of Graduate Studies (CGS) in Latin American and Caribbean Studies is a 12-credit program that will complement degree work for students in any of the Social Sciences or Humanities disciplines, Business, Criminal Justice, Education, Public Affairs and Policy, and Social Welfare, or who have research, service and/or teaching interests in Latin America and/or the Caribbean. “THE LACS DEPARTMENT IS UNIQUE FOR ITS MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH TO RESEARCH AND HUMANITY IN GENERAL. ITS IDEAS ARE UNIVERSAL IN OUR PLURIVERSAL WORLD; ALTHOUGH OUR RESEARCH FOCUSES ON PEOPLE OF LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN DESCENT, OUR THEORIES AND CONCEPTS ARE APPLICABLE ALL OVER THE WORLD. MOREOVER, LACS IS UNIQUE BECAUSE IT NEVER STOPS TRYING TO HEAR THE UNHEARD; THAT IS, SOCIAL JUSTICE IS OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE.”

ANTHONY STRONACH, LACS PH.D. STUDENT

OUR STUDENTS CUSTOMIZE THEIR COURSEWORK

LACS students design their own specialization with the guidance of faculty advisors who are trained in political science, history, sociology, American studies, Latino studies, anthropology and cultural studies. Students pursue a wide range of interests that include a focus on:
