Learn English for police work through classroom exercises, experiential learning, task-based projects, and hands-on training. Students will take trips to local police academies and training centers, and police officers and New York State Troopers will make classroom visits.

Classes will involve vocabulary, reading, discussion, listening, and practice with police functions and appropriate police English. Real-life scenario exercises may cover hostage-taking, modern piracy, major environmental accidents, and public health crises.

Before, after, or during the program, explore the great Northeast, including New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Niagara Falls, Washington (DC), and more!

The Intensive English Language Program (IELP) at UAlbany has been offering specially designed intensive English instruction since 1978 to more than 8,500 international students from more than 112 countries. Faculty and staff are committed to helping students meet their English language goals, experience American culture and campus life, and prepare for academic study. The IELP specializes in English for Specific Purposes.

For more information, please contact Mark Rentz, Associate Vice Provost for International Education, University at Albany, SUNY, at mrentz@albany.edu.