UNIVERSITY ART MUSEUM AT UALBANY APPOINTS GIL GENTILE AS EXHIBITION AND PUBLICATION DESIGNER

ALBANY, NY (September 12, 2018) --- The University Art Museum is pleased to announce the appointment of Gil Gentile as Exhibition and Publication Designer.

Gentile succeeds Zheng Hu as Exhibition and Publication Designer, who retired from the position after more than 30 years with the museum.

Gentile has over seven years of professional fine arts experience in digital projects, publication design, exhibition design and management, art installation and fabrication, and collections management.

Gentile holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts from Sarah Lawrence College and from 2014-2016 was the Co-founder and Editor of Basic Editions, a publisher and distributor of publications by artists working primarily in text, graphics, and photography.

Prior to his position at the University Art Museum, Gentile served as the archivist and designer at Various Small Fires, a contemporary art gallery in Los Angeles, CA.

Between 2011 and 2016, Gentile worked extensively with post-conceptual and multi-media artist Corey Arcangel, best known for his video game modifications. As Arcangel’s Production Manager, Gentile oversaw multiple major museum installations and solo gallery shows, often traveling with the artist and acting as liaison and installation coordinator—installing complex, large-scale multimedia installations for exhibitions in Europe. Additionally, Gentile managed production for Arcangel Surfware, a clothing and publications label started by the artist. In 2016, Gentile designed the The Source Digest, a paperback collection of annotated computer source code from Arcangel’s software-based works from the past 15 years.
