

And build 50 hours of related volunteering/interning or work experience

Working with a large-scale or family-run business involving:

- vegetable gardening
- farming
- nursery work
- tree planting or care
- urban forestry
- landscaping
- livestock care and management
- fish cultivation and production

Working/Interning with:

- Honest Weight Coop
- Farmers' Market
- Local farm-shares
- Local cidery/brewery
- Albany Pine Bush Preserve
- Radix Ecological Sustainability Center
- Capital Roots
- Food Pantry

Teaching or tutoring the public in environmental or agricultural issues/activities, including through the Albany/Cornell Cooperative Extension and Public Library system

Studying and researching in the Galapagos for a semester with UAlbany's new partner, the University of San Francisco, based in Quito, Ecuador, or erecting bio sand-filters in the Dominican Republic over spring break, under the direction of community leaders and an RPCV

•Becoming a UAlbany Student for Sustainability/GreenScene Ambassador, farming in UAlbany's garden, planting and pruning on campus, composting food waste from classroom and university offices, and advocating for local ingredients in campus dining halls and area restaurants

Join your fellow UAlbany students in cleaning Albany's streets and tending to Adirondack Park

Find local and virtual activities via Engage UAlbany and the Community and Public Service Program

AGRICULTURE