"The International Journal of Comparative Criminology should indeed be welcome by all teachers and practitioners in the field."

Shlomo Giora Shoham,
Faculty of Law, Tel Aviv
University, Israel

The International Journal of Comparative Criminology (IJCC) is a peer-reviewed journal that focuses on:

- Transnational Crime
- Corruption and Organized Crime
- Victimization, Criminal and Social (in)Justice
- Delinquency and Crime Prevention

Special Issue 2001: The Macroeconomics of Global Crime, edited by John Walker, Crime Trend Analysis, Australia.

Special Issues are published in de Sitter's "International Studies in Social Science" book series.

Book Reviews are published online in the Electronic Book Review Journal for Social Sciences.

"Globalization has arrived, and with it the need to think differently about crime and crime control. This journal should provide a forum for criminologists to develop and exchange new ideas in this ever changing field." Gloria Laycock, Professor of Crime Science, University College, London
