Chris Wildeman

Cornell University

Christopher Wildeman is Associate Vice Provost for the Social Sciences, Director of the Bronfenbrenner Center for Translational Research, and Director of the National Data Archive on Child Abuse and Neglect at Cornell University, where he is also a Professor of Policy Analysis and Management (PAM) and Sociology (by courtesy). Since 2015, he has also been a Senior Researcher at the Rockwool Foundation Research Unit in Copenhagen, Denmark.

His research and teaching interests revolve around the consequences of mass imprisonment for inequality, with emphasis on families, health, and children. He is also interested in child welfare, especially as relates to child maltreatment and the foster care system. He is the 2013 recipient of the Ruth Shonle Cavan Young Scholar Award from the American Society of Criminology.
